NATIONAL DRUG ABUSE TREATMENT CLINICAL TRIALS NETWORK

The National Drug Abuse Treatment Clinical Trials Network (CTN) is a means by which medical and specialty treatment providers, treatment researchers, participating patients, and the National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA) cooperatively develop, validate, refine, and deliver new treatment options to patients. This unique partnership enables:

- Conducting studies of behavioral, pharmacological, and integrated behavioral and pharmacological treatment interventions of therapeutic effect in rigorous, multisite clinical trials to determine effectiveness across a broad range of community-based treatment settings and diversified patient populations.
- Ensuring the transfer of research results to physicians, clinicians, providers, and patients.

The CTN framework consists of 16 nodes, a Clinical Coordinating Center, and a Data and Statistics Center. It links a variety of treatment providers and patient populations throughout the country. This allows the CTN to provide a broad and powerful infrastructure for rapid, multisite testing of promising, science-based therapies and the subsequent delivery of these treatments to patients in a variety of treatment settings.

For more information, visit the CTN website: <https://nida.nih.gov/about-nida/organization/cctn/clinical-trials-network-ctn>.
